

Investment Perspective — First Quarter 2022

The U.S. stock market ended 1Q 2022 with its first negative quarter of performance since COVID-19 hit in 2020. Inflation, the Federal Reserve's first rate increase since 2018, and the war in Ukraine were contributing factors, on top of ongoing supply chain issues. The economy exhibited restrained growth despite these conditions.

Download Investment Perspective